The following is Commentary By Tim O'Brien which WDET flatly refused to air because it was just too politically incorrect. I hope you enjoy it as much as I did.

A CALL TO SERVICE

Much progress has been made in recent decades in the effort to achieve a more equitable distribution of resources in our society. Americans have heard and heeded the call to provide for those who are lacking by redistributing from those who have in abundance.

A salutary fringe benefit of taking from the able and giving to the needy is the inspiration of a greater sense of community in the fortunate few who were born into wealth and have, therefore, grown up with selfish notions of private property. Progressive thinking has also led to calls for reinstituting a draft and some form of national service. Such service - though not necessarily military - would be uniformly required of all from the high and mighty to the lowly and powerless.

With the warming trend in superpower relations the need for a massive military has been waning. And on the domestic front there is one aching need in the body politic that cries out for satisfaction. One which would be a natural for community service. We have done reasonable well in assuring that all who want have food and shelter. However, we have thus far, completely ignored the next most important human requirement: sex.

Let's face it. Nature has been horrible unfair in her distribution of those assets which promote - indeed are necessary to - finding and maintaining a satisfying sexual relationship. No government studies have yet been commissioned. But I'd be willing to wager that the top twenty percent of the population is getting about eighty percent of the action!

And what about the bottom twenty percent - those unfortunates who are too unattractive or socially awkward to find any partners in the ruthlessly competitive, totally laissez-faire sexual marketplace? For them the American Dream - epitomized in Carol Alt and Mel Gibson - is a cruelly taunting television/movie/magazine mirage. How can we, as a civilized society, permit the injustice to continue?

Indeed, how much damage is being caused by the lack of an available sexual outlet for a tremendous proportion of our population? How high a price are we willing to pay in terms of the resulting drug and alcohol abuse? Not to mention all of the lost time and productivity that results from their pathetic quests. Consider the indignity of being reduced to hanging out in bars inquiring about horoscope signs.

We need a sexual safety net! "Why not apply the same reasoning to sexual resources that we apply to all of our other resources? If Uncle Sam can have part of your paycheck to satisfy the hungry, why shouldn't he have part of your sex life to satisfy the horny? Call it Affirmative Action for the ugly.

I propose we immediately adopt a system of mandatory national service. Two years out of every citizen's life is a small price to pay to achieve a happier, more contented society. These could be any two years between the ages of eighteen and twenty five. This will assure that draftees are at their physical and sexual peak while accomadating individual needs and choices in such matters as higher education. Those who choose to go on to college could obtain a student deferment while the less academically inclined could give their "fair share" right out of high school.

It defies all logic to have women as beautiful as Christie Brinkley and Julia Roberts committing to monogomous relationships with men like Billy Joel and Kieffer Sutherland - people who certainly were not lacking for dates. By way of analogy with the real estate market, this is like Donald Trump forming a merger with Leona Helmsley and the two of them keeping all of the space in their combined hotel impires for themselves - vowing never to let a room! Anyone could see the unfairness of such a monopoly. But when Trump selfishly takes Marla Maples from the available dating pool, there are congratulations all around!

Now, anyone can go down to the nearest welfare office and get on the dole to take care of their basic human needs for food and shelter. But where is the nurturance of the soul? What is to become of the hard core lonely?

I say we should all immediately fire off the strongest possible missives to our equalitarian-minded redistributors in Washington D.C. If we can have an IRS, why can't we have a Whore Corps?

To the Editor:

I really appreciate the article by Roger Hane, "The Invisible Fist," in our August Grey Sheet, in the sense that it filled a lot of space and illustrated the tolerance within the movement of contrary notions. Humanity as ineluctable shit, liberty as exploitation: dynamite stuff. It shoud come in handy for anyone who wants to address his or her next village idiots convention.

Regards,

Brian Wright
LP Candidate, 11th District US Congress
