2008 Election: A Look at the Numbers

by Greg Stempfle

Michigan was no exception to the overwhelming Democratic sweep in the use of marijuana, passed by a margin of 2008 elections. Democrats took every 63-37%. This proposal was endorsed by statewide race, took two Congressional the LPM but not the Republicans or seats away from Republicans, and Democrats. This is the second election increased their majority in the State in a row that the Libertarians have been Candidate, Bob Barr, finished in 4th place, was opposed by the major parties. The behind Obama, McCain, and Nader. While same situation occurred in 2006 with the Barr's vote total (23,740) fell short of some expectations, it was the third highest vote in Michigan for a LP Presidential candidate, behind Ed Clark in 1980 (41,597) and Harry Browne in 1996 (27,670).

When you crunch all of the numbers, Libertarian candidates in 2008 had some of their best numbers ever. The average percentage of the votes for both Congress and State House were our highest since 1994, when Jon Coon's aggressive campaign for US Senate (128,117) brought in strong numbers statewide. This year's Senate candidate Scotty Boman (76,379) earned the most votes Supreme Court candidate, behind Leonard for any third party candidate for Senate Schwartz with 443,049 in 2004. # Just One

by Bill Hall, LPM Chair

The Libertarian Party of Michigan just completed one of its most successful campaigns in many years. Bob Barr received the most votes and highest percentage for President in Michigan since Harry Browne in 1996. Scotty Boman, at 76,347 votes and 1.6% had the best showing for US Senate since Jon Coon's race in 1994. Our candidates for US Congress and State Representative eclipsed the previous percentage records set in 1996. Many State Representative candidates drew 50% to 100% higher percentages than in the recent past.

And the highlights were the race of Bob Roddis for Michigan Supreme Court, earning 421,091 votes, 11%, effectively taking out Chief Justice Cliff Taylor. Tom Bagwell and Larry Johnson were elected Ypsilanti Township Park Commissioners. Two candidates in County level two-way races took between 20% and 30% of the vote, while three took between 10% and 20% of the vote. John Stedman took the highest percentage, with 24.7% and 55,628 votes in a two-way race for Kent County Sheriff, actually winning several precincts within the City of Grand Rapids. Macomb County Commission candidate Erin Stahl drew 10.4% in a three-way race.

Now is the time to continue this tremendous momentum we started. Each local affiliate should be carefully considering what local municipal races are up for election in 2009. Carefully examining the prospects for a Libertarian candidate in those races. Aggressively recruiting an active candidate to carry the Libertarian banner of more freedom and less government.

In the 2007 off-year elections, the LPM had a total of five candidates running in nonpartisan races for City Council in five different cities across Michigan. Two of those candidates were running for re-election, one had served in the past, and two were newcomers to their race. All five ran active campaigns. Four out of five won. Yes, it can be done, and we can do it!

What it will take is each of our local affiliates selecting just one race. Just one race that offers the best prospects for a win. Just one race that local activists can pitch in and actively support with their time, energy and campaign contributions. Just one candidate who is willing to actively run for office, doing the hard work it takes to win.

Now is not the time to pat ourselves on the back and rest on our laurels for all we accomplished this past November. Won't you join your affiliate in running just one candidate, to win?

Welcome Volunteers

Probably the most important result of our successful election season was finding so many people willing to volunteer for the Libertarian Party of Michigan. Over 100 people stepped forward and offered to help. Now that the election is over, you may be thinking, "What can I do now?" One of the most important ways to build the LP is to get involved in your local affiliate. Attend local meetings, take a leadership role as an officer, organize public out-reach events—all help build a strong voice for liberty in your community that will pay dividends in future elections. If there isn't an active affiliate in your area, why not start one? The LPM will give you the help you need.

The LPM has other volunteer opportunities, too. For example, we need administrative help in the accounting, technology and communications areas, and with our speakers' bureau. The LPM is planning activist training sessions in early spring—one in Troy and one in Grand Rapids-where we will talk more about these opportunities and have volunteer sign-ups. These afternoon workshops will be for everyone so we can plan what needs to be done and how best to organize our efforts for success in 2010. Further details will be announced in LPM Online, so check your e-mail box!

Thanks to all our volunteers for making a difference. Feel free to contact Bill Hall with questions, chair@michiganlp.org. We all look forward to working with you to promote liberty in Michigan.

Nominations Open for Defender of Liberty Awards

The Defender of Liberty Awards ("Libbies") will be presented at this year's LibertyFest in Dearborn on January 24th.

These awards are given to individuals, Libertarian or otherwise, who have made notable personal efforts in the defense of liberty. Winners must live and/or work in the state of Michigan.

Three categories have been established:

Spokesperson for Liberty - a member of the community whose patriotism and conviction have inspired contributions to the cause of Liberty

Promoter of Liberty - A Libertarian whose efforts have done the most to promote the LP and Libertarian principles Producer of Liberty - a dedicated, behind-the-scenes Libertarian whose quiet labors over the years exemplifies the backbone of the LP.

Please send nominations to Bill Hall or Scotty Boman (scottyeducation@yahoo.com) by January 1, 2009.

Boman Runs TV Spots on Comedy Central

The Scotty Boman for US Senate campaign purchased a week's worth of advertising on the cable network Comedy Central during the week leading up to the election. The 30 second spots aired during the network's evening lineup. This time slot is loaded with some the network's most popular shows, often full of political satire, most famously, the "fake news" shows, The Daily Show and Colbert Report. The ads resulted in an estimated 5,000 hits to Boman's website, Boman's com. "Almost every libertarian I know watches South Park and The Daily Show so it only seemed natural to target that audience," said Boman campaign Treasurer, Greg Stempfle. The ad urged voters to vote for Libertarian Party candidates because of their opposition to the bailout of Wall Street billionaires. The commercial can be viewed at YouTube, under username sboman'08.
